

Jordan Carter

Candidate for ccNSO Council - Asia Pacific Region

Nominated by .JP, seconded by .VU and .AU

Asking for your ccTLD's vote for the ccNSO Council Election!

Dear Colleagues!

I seek your vote and support for another term as a member of the Council.

For the last three years I have served as Vice-Chair of the Council, and focused on:

- Improving the way the ccNSO plans and prioritises its work, by leading the Council's Triage Committee until early 2024
- Working closely with Alejandra and Biyi as the leadership group for the Council
- Leading the ccNSO's response to the potential gaps in IANA policies and procedures highlighted by the .LB situation that emerged in 2023

To help stay in touch with the region, alongside attending each ICANN meeting, I have been able to attend APTLD meetings most years, and usually one APNIC members' meeting as well.

If you re-elect me to the Council for the 2025-2028 term, I will focus my attention on these issues:

- Continue to seek a role as part of the leadership group of the Council
- Make sure Asia Pacific perspectives and needs are heard by the ccNSO at the highest levels
- Work on the policy issues and gaps work triggered by the .LB situation
- Support the ccNSO's engagement and build our relationship with ICANN's new CEO

I will continue to be a collaborative, engaging member of the AP community and the ccNSO in a new term for the Council. I will also bring a ccTLD and ccNSO perspective to my role as a Technical Community representative on the United Nations IGF Multi-stakeholder Advisory Group (MAG).

I work at auDA, the .au ccTLD Manager, and am based in Melbourne. My role is focused on internet governance and public policy, which means I have the time and resources to do the work required as a ccNSO council member. I have auDA's full support to stand for the Council and do the work involved.

I would be very happy to speak with you about any aspect of the ccNSO's work, and look forward to seeing many friends at the ICANN meeting in Istanbul in November. Get in touch any time.
