The ccNSO Council approved the resolution regarding the blueprint of the review process for ccNSO working groups and committees. The resolution was moved by Stephen Deerhake, and seconded by Ali Hadji Mmadi. No questions or comments were raised.

Alejandra Reynoso reported that following the successful completion of the review of the DNS Abuse Standing Committee (DASC) in January, the Council requested the Chair of the Council and the Chair of the GRC to document the methodology used for assessing the effectiveness and efficiency of the DASC. The purpose of this documentation is to apply the same method to review the purpose, effectiveness, and efficiency of other ccNSO Committees and long-standing working groups. The document outlining this methodology was shared with the group a few days ago.

Alejandra also highlighted the importance of considering the aggregate effect of committee reviews. While reviewing each committee individually every two to three years may seem reasonable, collectively, this results in a continuous review process. To manage this workload effectively, it is suggested that before initiating new reviews, the Council prioritizes them and establishes a plan to conduct a maximum of two reviews per year.

- Resolution 215-05

The ccNSO Council adopts the Template/Blueprint for review. The ccNSO Chair and secretariat are requested to develop a schedule and timeline for review of the various groups, after consulting the various committees and taking into account the workload to conduct a review and need for a review. SUBSTANTIVE MATTERS & DECISIONS

16. Update “How we meet” process and next steps

Jordan Carter, Council Vice Chair, raised concerns regarding ICANN’s presentation, noting that while it was presented as a straightforward discussion by the community, it primarily consisted of suggestions for cost savings. He encouraged ccTLD managers to share their perspectives through the public comment process. Jordan also referred to the ccNSO Members Meeting session, where comments from the ccTLD community were aggregated. Alejandra Reynoso assigned Molehe Wesi and Jodi Andersson, the ccNSO appointees to the ICANN discussion group, to review the outcomes of the members’ meeting session. A ccNSO statement will be prepared in response to the request for public comments.

- Action item 215-12

Molehe Wesi and Jodi Andersson, the ccNSO appointees to the ICANN discussion group, are requested to review the outcomes of the members’ meeting session on “how we meet”.

- Action item 215-13

ccNSO Council will prepare a statement in response to the request for public comments on the “How we meet” process.

17. Update Pilot Holistic Review (PHR) and Continuous Improvement Program (CIP) and next steps

Chris Disspain, ccNSO appointee to the PHR, reported that the Board had been considering a review, and the co-chairs of the PHR had discussions with Board and community members, including a meeting with SO/AC chairs and the Chair of ATRT3. The approach to PHR would be viable, as long as the community accepts the premises on which the review is based. The process is contingent on both community and Board approval. Tripti raised concerns, suggesting that the process might need to be reconsidered entirely, questioning the purpose of ATRT4. While some see it as a waste of time, others, particularly At-Large, do not share this view.

Alejandra Reynoso suggested writing to the Board first. Chris agreed, emphasizing that their communication could influence the Board’s decision. It was decided to wait for the Board’s letter and then respond accordingly. Regarding ATRT4, Alejandra noted that the discussion had been deferred to April and highlighted its cascading effects. Chris suggested drafting a note to the Board asking whether they intend to move forward with ATRT4 and other reviews.

Jordan Carter, Council Vice Chair, expressed concerns that the entire review system is flawed. Originally intended as a useful process, it now requires a broader evaluation of the ICANN system. He suggested pausing all reviews, including PHR and bylaw reviews, and appointing a design team to create a more effective review process. Chris agreed, aligning with the concerns expressed by the Chair of the ICANN Board. Peter Koch, ccNSO Councillor for the European region, cautioned that not all bylaw reviews are the same and that they should avoid dismissing valuable reviews.

A drafting team was formed, consisting of Chris Disspain, Jordan Carter, Sean Copeland, and Peter Koch, to prepare a letter to the Board. The goal is to have the letter drafted by the next Council meeting, with Bart noting a mid-April timeframe.

- Action item 215-14

The Council drafting team and Secretariat requested to prepare a draft letter to the ICANN Board by Council meeting 216, regarding the Pilot Holistic Review and related matters.

18. Any Other Business (AOB)

Alejandra Reynoso informed the Council that ICANN had sent a note regarding the retirement policy, which she had shared with the group. She suggested that the Council should not respond immediately but aim to provide a response by the next Council meeting in April at the latest. She emphasized that this request should take priority over any previous discussions on the matter. Alejandra also urged Councillors not to respond to any questions regarding the .su case in their capacity as Councillors, reminding the group that the Retirement Working Group was formally closed at the 22 September 2022 meeting.

She requested that Jordan Carter, Biyi Oladipo, Chris Disspain, and Peter Koch, along with the secretariat, prepare a response to be circulated to the Council. The group agreed to this approach.

- Action item 215-15

The Council drafting team and Secretariat are requested to prepare a draft response to the request for clarification regarding the retirement policy by Council meeting 216.
