

Participation of ccTLDs in IANA Stewardship Transition

Engagement Process and Call for Nominations for ccTLD Managers to Participate in the Stewardship Transition Coordination Group

26 June 2014

The ccNSO and the four regional ccTLD organisations (AFTLD, APTLD, CENTR & LACTLD) are writing jointly to invite the active participation of ccTLD managers in this very important process.

Summary

The US Government has announced its intention to transition the IANA-related functions to the global multistakeholder community. This action will have a direct impact on all ccTLD managers, so they are encouraged to become involved in this transition planning process. ICANN is establishing a 'Coordinating Committee' as part of this process to develop an IANA stewardship transition proposal based on stakeholder input. There will be 27 representatives on this group, including 4 ccTLD operators. The ccNSO has been asked to select these four individuals. The purpose of this message is to encourage all ccTLDs, whether or not they are members of the ccNSO, to become engaged in this process and to seek nominations for these four places.

Background

On 14 March 2014 the US Department of Commerce's National Telecommunications and Information Administration (NTIA) announced its intent to transition stewardship of the Internet Assigned Numbers Authority (IANA) functions to the global multistakeholder community. The NTIA asked the Internet Corporation for Assigned Names and Numbers (ICANN), as the IANA functions contractor and global coordinator for the Domain Name System (DNS), to convene a multistakeholder process to develop a proposal for the transition. NTIA also said that the transition proposal produced through this process must have broad community support and address the following four principles:

- Support and enhance the multistakeholder model;
- Maintain the security, stability, and resiliency of the Internet DNS;
- Meet the needs and expectation of the global customers and partners of the IANA services; and,
- Maintain the openness of the Internet.

The NTIA also said that it will not accept a proposal that replaces the NTIA role with a government-led or an inter-governmental organization solution. Full details of IANA's announcement are available at: <http://www.ntia.doc.gov/press-release/2014/ntia-announces-intent-transition-blue-internet-domain-name-functions>.

As part of that process, on June 8, 2014, ICANN announced that it is creating a ‘Coordinating Group’ as part of the process to help develop an IANA stewardship transition proposal. The creation of this group was informed by comments received by ICANN on a previous proposal. ICANN stated what it thought the role of the Coordination Group would be: “it will be responsible for preparing a transition proposal responsive to the differing needs of the various affected parties of the IANA functions. It should be responsible for assembling the components from the respective communities into a single proposal meeting the criteria set out by NTIA”. However, ICANN went on to say that “this document does not prescribe the roles and responsibilities for the Coordination Group. The Coordination Group may use the input at its discretion as it works toward defining its modes of operation and working methods.” We understand that work is underway among relevant stakeholder groups to draft and develop consensus around various aspects of the transition. ### ccTLD Participation in the Overall Transition Planning Process

IANA has responsibility for the day-to-day management of the DNS so this transition process is of direct importance to all managers of TLDs, including ccTLDs. All ccTLD managers are therefore encouraged to make themselves aware of these proposed changes and to become actively engaged as planning and specific proposals emerge. The ccNSO and the Regional ccTLD organizations, AFTLD, APTLD, LACTLD and CENTR all intend to participate actively on behalf of their members. ccTLDs that are not members of either the ccNSO or a regional organization are also encouraged to contact the ccNSO and/or regional organizations in order to stay informed and make their input known. All ccTLDs are of course welcome to join either or both the ccNSO and their regional organization.

ccTLD Participation on the Coordinating Group

The ICANN announcement stated that the Coordination Group will be comprised of 27 individual members who will be selected through their respective communities and processes and that “care is urged to ensure diligent observance to diversity standards and to guard against any conflict of interest.” Four of these 27 places on the Coordinating Group are reserved for ccTLD operators, both ccNSO members and non-ccNSO members, as selected by the ccNSO. This is the text of the announcement: “Country Code Names Supporting Organisation (ccNSO and non-ccNSO Country Code Top-Level Domain [ccTLD] operators, as selected by the ccNSO)”.

ICANN also indicated that Coordination Group members will not be remunerated but that travel, meal and lodging costs for Coordination Group members to participate in Coordination Group meetings will be covered by ICANN, upon request and in accordance with ICANN's community travel support guidelines.

Call for Nominations

The ccNSO in, conjunction with the Regional ccTLD Organizations, is seeking nominations from ccTLD managers who might wish to be one of the four ccTLD representatives on the Coordinating Group, both ccNSO members and non-ccNSO members.
